What Is America’s Interest in the Middle East?

John Glaser
Cato Institute
Monday, April 2 | 12 p.m. | 108 WWC

Moderated by Stephen C. Nemeth, Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science

John Glaser is the director of foreign policy studies at the Cato Institute. His research interests include grand strategy, basing posture, U.S. foreign policy in the Middle East, the rise of China, and the role of status and prestige motivations in international politics. Glaser has been a guest on a variety of television and radio programs and has had his work published in the Washington Post, the Los Angeles Times, Foreign Affairs, The National Interest, CNN, and Time, among other outlets.

Glaser earned a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science from the University of Massachusetts Amherst and a Master of Arts in International Security at the Schar School of Policy and Government at George Mason University.

All are welcome & light Persian snacks provided.